

The City Consortium Solicitor Training Programme

September 2022

What is the City Consortium?

We are a group of six leading, global law firms:

- Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer
- Linklaters
- Herbert Smith Freehills
- Norton Rose Fulbright
- Hogan Lovells
- Slaughter and May

What is the City Consortium Solicitor Training Programme?

In September 2022, you will be able to study on our market-leading City Consortium Solicitor Training Programme at BPP University Law School.

This programme will:

- provide you with the optimum preparation to pass the centralised SQE 1 and SQE 2 assessments
- incorporate our bespoke Plus Programme which will equip you with the legal knowledge, skills and behaviours that you will need for your career in one of our firms
- offer you an optional Master's qualification

You will be supported throughout by BPP's expert tutors and their state-of-the-art EdTech, including:

- a personalised adaptive learning platform
- simulated SQE assessment practice with multiple choice questions
- a virtual practice environment to enhance your digital, commercial and legal skills
- a diagnostic tool to enable you to track your progress
- one-to-one sessions with a personal tutor and skills coaching workshops

Why train with the City Consortium?

On the City Consortium Solicitor Training Programme you will:

- study on an innovative and integrated programme, and attend primarily face-to-face workshops, alongside your peers
- enjoy live transaction-based workshops, led by experienced lawyers from City practice
- go beyond the law to develop your knowledge of business strategy, finance and legal technology, and your project and people management skills
- learn about the mindset, self-awareness and resilience required to sustain a long and successful career in the law

Your success is our success.

That's why we are investing in it.

You will study on the City Consortium Solicitor Training Programme from early September 2022 to late July 2023.
